WRONG CRITICISM.

Before our contemporaries made their covert attacks on the United States Minister, on account of the departure of the Bennington for target practice just before the assembling of the Legislature, they should have ascertained all the facts in the case. If they were aware of the facts, their slurs are contemptible. The invitations to Captain Pigman and officers of the cruiser were not received on board ship until noon the day before the opening of the Legislature, when half a day had been expended in taking up the ship's cables. The United States Minister was not responsible for the lateness of the invitations. Members of the diplomatic and consular corps only received their own invitations between 11 and 12 o'clock the day before the opening. Had the captain and officers of the Bennington been given even half a day's earlier notice, there is no doubt they would have lent their presence to the opening ceremonies of the Legislature. One of the highest officers of the ship, in conversation with the editor of this paper on Tuesday evening, said that it was desired to make the cruise and return in time to receive the mail from the Coast on Friday. Still, if the invitations had been received earlier, arrangements could have been made to attend the opening and then get away in time to return before the arrival of the mail steamer. After getting this information from the naval officer, the writer introduced the subject to a foreign consul—not of the United States Consulate. This gentleman considered it a blunder on the part of the Government to have been so late with its invitations, and ascribed the prospective absence of the Bennington's officers to that cause. Those who were enraged and horrified at a newspaper a few years ago, for its admitting criticisms of an American Minister by American citizens on a purely American matter, are now, it is to be feared, consenting with more than complacency to all manner of slurs upon an American Minister in relation to international matters. The Government should be jealous of having such matters thrashed over in the newspapers, instead of having them left to its own careful treatment according to the methods of diplomacy. With the reciprocity treaty, the cable and annexation all pending between the two countries, there is liable to be serious mischief wrought through the license taken, regarding the accredited representatives of the United States, by that portion of the press which assumes to have peculiarly in its custody the welfare of this Republic.

Timely Topics

President Krueger of the Transvaal republic is one of the greatest diplomats in the world. He is a living proof of the fact that in rare instances the diplomatist is born, not made. He is ignorant of letters and the elegancies of life and his range of reading is very limited, but the old Boer possesses qualities that enable him to cope with the cleverest of the trained diplomatists of England.

The attention of the whole civilized world is now riveted on this man and his doings. His every act is reported in the London and New York papers by able special correspondents detailed for the purpose.

Here in this little republic of fly-specks on the great Pacific we are so far from the arena in which the present great game of diplomacy is being carried on, and our means of getting news from the outside world are so few and far between, that we have more time to attend to our own and our neighbor's business—especially the latter, if all reports are true.

We want to call the attention of readers of the BULLETIN this week to something which not only interests them but their neighbors also. It is to an article called CARBOLINEUM AVENARIUS. We believe those are Latin words but we don't know and we don't care. We know the article is good for the purpose it is used, and that is all that concerns us.

Carbolineum Avenarius is used for preserving wood against all insects, rot, fungus, etc., and it does the business in great shape. It is applied the same as paint and is in a convenient and handy form for use. We had a lot of this valuable compound some time ago but the demand was so great when people got to know about it that our stock was soon exhausted. We have plenty on hand now, however, to supply everybody.

In building houses this preparation is invaluable for coating plates, mudsills and any lumber which is liable to come in contact with moisture. It is excellent to preserve the ends of fence posts and telephone poles. Railway ties coated with it last twice as long as without it.

Nearly everyone is troubled with borers about their premises. These pests will not touch any woodwork that has once been coated with Carbolineum Avenarius. Five dollars invested in this preparation will save $500 worth of lumber.

This is not a new preparation. It has been in extensive use in Europe and the United States for twelve years past, where it is gaining favor as its merits become better known.

COFFEE ESTATE AND LANDS

For Sale.

I am directed to sell at Public Auction on Wednesday, May 27, '96, at 12 o'clock noon of said day at my sales rooms on Queen street, in Honolulu (unless sooner disposed of at private sale) the following described property, namely:

A tract of land of about 2,300 acres in fee simple situate at Kolo and Oloheoana 1 in South Kona, Island of Hawaii, about eight miles by a good road from Hilo, one of the largest villages in Kona. There is an excellent landing on the land itself from where the coffee and other produce could be shipped and a good site for a mill near the landing. Fifty acres of land are in coffee. Roughly estimated there is about seven hundred acres of splendid coffee land lying all on one block on both sides of the Government Road. Eight hundred acres lying above and to the East of the seven hundred acres above mentioned is also excellent land and although at a higher altitude is no doubt also well adapted for coffee culture. The lower land below the coffee belt is suitable for pineapples and sisal. There is a drying house, store and work-rooms, a Gordon's Pulper, laborers' quarters and water tanks at the plantation, and the land is partly walled. There has never been any blight on this land, although coffee was planted a great many years ago. Old residents of Kona like the late D. H. Nahina, J. W. Kaimoku and others have testified to this fact. There is a sea fishery appurtenant to Oloheoana 1.

Terms cash or part of the purchase price can remain on mortgage at eight per cent per annum. Deeds and stamps at the expense of purchaser.

A map of the property can be seen and further particulars obtained at my sales rooms.
